

STATE EDITORS TO ATTERBURY

Daily And Weekly Publishers
Will Visit Cantonment
For Conferences

Camp Atterbury, May 8.—Publishers, editors and executives of Indiana daily and weekly newspapers have been invited to spend a day and a half at Camp Atterbury for a spring conference on May 19 and 20. The invitation has been extended by Col. Welton M. Modisette, post commander; Maj. Gen. Alan W. Jones, commander of the 106th Infantry Division, stationed at Camp Atterbury, and Col. H. L. Conner, commanding the newly designated Wakeman General Hospital located there. Arrangements for the event are being made by the Hoosier State Press Association.

The program for the conference has been arranged by a committee of the association, composed of R. A. Brodhecker, Brownstown, president; Mark Force, Indianapolis; James Waggener, Franklin, and Wray E. Fleming, Indianapolis, general counsel of the association.

Plans call for registration at the camp between 1 and 2:30 on Friday afternoon, May 19. A meeting with informal discussions of daily and weekly newspaper problems will be held from 2:30 until 5 o'clock, followed by a retreat parade of the Army Service Forces. Following the review, a trip over the camp is scheduled.

There will be a dinner at 7 o'clock, after which a soldier entertainment program will be given at one of the service clubs. The male visitors will be quartered with the 1584th Service Unit, commanded by Col. H. G. Esden, while the women guests will spend the night at the WAC barracks.

Saturday morning, May 20th, the visitors will eat breakfast with the units to which they are assigned. The morning will be spent observing the regularly scheduled training of the 106th Division in the field. Lunch will be eaten with the Division and the early afternoon devoted to a tour through the Wakeman General Hospital.

1944/05/08 Newspaper Editors to visit Camp

Clipped By:

jimdwest

Fri, May 5, 2017