

FLEET ADM. CHESTER NIMITZ (R), Chief of Naval Operations & Vice Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, shown during press conference at Navy Dept. at which announced that Capt. Charles B. McVay III, skipper of the cruiser Indianapolis was found guilty of failing to direct his ship to follow zig-zig course prior to time she was destroyed last July. The Navy ruled that sentence has been remitted "in its entirety" and McVay has been released and restored to duty. (Acme.)

1946-02-28 Capt Charles McVay skipper of the USS Indianapolis, found guilty of failure

1946-02-28 Capt Charles McVay skipper of the USS Indianapolis, found guilty of failure to zig-zag the ship just before she was destroyed. Sentence was remitted and McVay has been restored to duty

Clipped By:

criswest Tue, Nov 21, 2017